A BLACK INSTITUTION.

Within a few weeks past it has come to our knowledge on several different occasions that students have left the College at Santa Clara, which has heretofore borne an excellent reputation as one of the best managed and most thorough educational institutions in this State, because the management persist in admitting negroes to the College, in direct opposition to an almost unanimously expressed wish of the students. We learn that a short time ago, out of one hundred and fifty students in attendance only nine were Republicans, and as the latter are the only class of young men willing to fraternize with negroes, the much larger number of Democratic principles, of course object to being "taught, fed and slept" side by side with negroes. As they could not compel the expulsion of the negroes, of whom we learn there are but two or three, (so that the pecuniary advantage of keeping them can be no excuse) the only course left those who could not stand the association was to withdraw. We have heard of five, residents of Yolo county, and as many more from other parts of the State, who have already left the institution for the reason mentioned, and it is the opinion of one with whom we conversed that others will leave permanently at the holiday vacation. It seems to us that this is a very short-sighted policy to adopt, on the part of the management of so popular an institution of learning as the Santa Clara College. If they wish to turn it into a Black Republican institution, all right; that is their business; but we can assure them that they will have to look elsewhere for support than to the sons of our wealthy farmers, the young Democracy of Yolo county.

FATAL SHOOTING AFFAIR IN SACRAMENTO.—On Wednesday evening last, Charles E. Fisher, business manager of the Sacramento Reporter, was shot by Charles Dell, from the effect of which he expired immediately. It seems Dell was paying his addresses to the daughter of Fisher, a very estimable young lady of seventeen, contrary to her father's wishes. On the evening of the occurrence Mr. and Mrs. Fisher visited a fair which was in progress, and on returning found Dell, with a young man named Potter, at the house. A quarrel ensued in which Fisher struck Dell several blows with a heavy cane, when Dell drew a pistol and fired three shots, two of which took effect and killed Fisher almost instantly. Dell is represented to be wealthy, but had been forbidden the house by Fisher. These are as near the facts as we can get by the details in the Sacramento papers.

LECTURE.—Mr. C. J. T. Coombs lectured on Thursday evening in Washington Hall, on the "Science of Phrenology." Owing to the short notice, there was but a slim attendance. The gentleman, however, acquitted himself well. He presented the subject in its broadest sense. He undoubtedly understands what he is talking about, and in the examination of heads he portrays the character well. In fact, among the many examinations we have witnessed we believe he has made but few mistakes. Mr. Coombs is deserving of a more extensive notice by our citizens, especially those who have the care and training of the rising generation. We would be gratified to see him have a chance to lecture before a larger audience, and suggest that he be invited to do so. He lectures free.

EQUALIZATION.—Hon. J. Russell Smith has just returned from a tour through the northern counties, as a member of the State Board of Equalization, and reports that he finds matters satisfactory in the different counties. The mining counties have been taxed fully up to a cash value standard, but in the agricultural regions there is a good deal of difference. Mr. Smith confidently expects that another session will show great benefit to the people from the establishment of the State Board, and that it will result in something like uniform taxation according to the value of the property. This is the only true principle of taxation.

THE RIGHT MAN IN THE RIGHT PLACE.—Among the newly elected members of the Board of Education in Sacramento is our friend H. C. Kirk, of the well known drug house of H. C. Kirk & Co., a sterling Democrat, thoroughly qualified for the office, than whom the voters of the Capital city could not have selected a more suitable man for the position to which he is chosen. We congratulate the Democracy on their successful election of so thorough and competent a gentleman as one of the Board of Education, and only hope the other candidates elected will fill the bill as completely.

GOOD CIGARS.—Our friends visiting Sacramento, who like a good cigar, cannot do better than call on P. Franklin, 102 1/2 street, who keeps the choicest cigars, tobacco, etc., to be found in the city. Having just been made the recipient of a box of his pure Havanas, we know whereof we speak.

APPROPRIATE.—The editor of the Mod appropriately writes his own epitaph in the last number of that delectable sheet, thus: "Died—because we were not smart enough to live."

ELECTION OF R. R. DIRECTORS.—We call attention to the Notice to Stockholders, calling a meeting for the election of Directors for the ensuing year.

Letter from Florida.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Nov. 9, 1870.
[We are permitted to make some extracts from a letter, dated as above, to a friend in this place:]

I read every word in the papers you sent me, and drank in delicious recollections recalled by them. Your bads are better than our goods. A heavy blight seems to have settled down on the general masses of this State. It is not the Florida of long syne, neither is black nor white. Political strife and religious fanaticism have run rife and riot so long that the entire State is suffering the most trying prostration, financially and morally. The carpet-bagger, for instance, takes the poor negro and tutors him to believe that the houses and lands of rebel whites will be confiscated to the use of the poor colored, if they will persevere in maintaining the ascendancy of the Radical party in power. Some now are selecting by name such houses and lots in this town as their delusions and hope of Radical (I don't mean Republican) success leads them to expect. Thus the negro is made to serve the purposes of a tool simply, and ungoverned by instincts (so to speak) of reason and the vitalizing, enlightening influence of a liberal education, he runs madly and unreasonably to any and every extreme where passion and desires may lead him. There are numbers of instances where negroes are appointed Judges! knowing no more of the deencies and proprieties of life, far less of the gravity and dignity of their office than so many caterwauling tomcats, running to the right or left with their decisions, as the attorneys in their whims, levity, or mutual agreements, may turn them. Thus the sacred rights of the people are imperiled, their temples of justice made the habitations of thieves and robbers, scamps, scalliwags and carpet-baggers—an unprincipled horde of political adventurers, let loose with neither grace nor dignity, to pillage and outrage the people and deform the face of every republican feature of government. Men once prominent in Confederate councils, sloughed off from overfussing slums of northern cities! These men, with desires of gain and ungodly aims, frame laws for Florida to pile up stores for posterity and fasten the fangs of bankruptcy into every class of business! Into such a woe and maelstrom of confusion has the State now run that we involuntarily say, "Lord, have mercy!" not knowing whither to turn for relief. "Heaven save us!" is the honest expression of every true man, North or South. The solution of the negro trouble is now as much a problem as previous to the day of emancipation. The Government at Washington has theoretically determined his status and defined his relation to the Government, but that no more makes him the creature it would have him be than legislating civilization to the Apaches of Arizona. The Government can no more make him the political equal of the white man than it can establish an affinity between the infernal regions and heaven. Humboldt states that locality has a tendency to change the nature and sentiments of men. I think all intelligent observers and thinkers will readily assent to this proposition. I think, also, every one will assent to the proposition that a system or code of laws suited to one section of country is not suited to a section entirely differing from the other. I think it will be still more readily admitted that a set of laws suited to one race of people will not suit a people entirely differing in race; and that therefore any effort or attempt at compulsory equalization, political or social, is an abortion of nature, and therefore, per se, wrong, and demands redress at the hands of the white people of the United States. I offer no solution, but I do not think there is any short of separation of the black from the white, and thus free the whites, North and South, from this maddening, distracting bone of contention, in which the South continues to be the greater sufferer. Come what may, I favor this course. It is a burning shame that the American white people should so long disgrace and humiliate themselves with so horrid a sore. The black people have my pity. Northerners will never make homes of this beautiful section of the Union, to permanently locate, until the two races of people are separated. Here, where bacon should be 10 cents per pound, beef 5 cents, butter 25 cents, sugar 8 cents, we find an entire doubling, and often not even then. It is impossible to raise hogs or cows running at large. Such is Florida, a land of sugar cane, oranges, bananas and tropical fruits.

My Irish potatoes are up and growing beautifully. Garden peas are growing finely—cabbages fairly strutting. We have less frost here than in Woodland. I see oranges ripening on the trees—bananas also. In fact, the latter have been ripe for three months. But with all it is not as happy a country as California.

We mourn the loss of our countryman, Gen. R. E. Lee. It makes us all sad. Very truly,
F. X. MILLER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 14th, 1870.
THE RAIN.

"The glorious rain!" we hear farmers everywhere exclaim, while visions of overflowing granaries and well-filled coffers float through their brain. The rain, O God! how it lets in the dampness, croup, chills and fever. And many poor mortals weep because of the sorrow the rain has brought on them. Last week while those reviving showers were cleansing our streets and purifying the atmosphere, a poor woman, once the head of the beau monde, was taken sick and confined to her miserable abode of poverty. Five children, the oldest of whom is only eight years old, clamored loudly for food and wrapped their old garments about them to keep out the chill arising from the dampness of the old tenement house. Her husband, compelled to toil at jobs to which speculation had reduced him, was absent the while, leaving the care of the family to Tommy, the oldest of the children. The condition of these poor people was pitiful in the extreme and hourly growing worse, as the mother tossed helplessly on her bed and shrieked out in the wild delirium of fever, till in the mercy of Providence a kind doctor called who breathed peace on the troubled household. Attention and proper medicines soon made the mother herself again and placed her at the head of her neglected little ones. When the good doctor dismissed her case the woman gratefully offered him her treasured hoard, her all, which she had saved for a dark day. But the physician put it aside saying he charged no fee, and when her family needed medical attention not to hesitate in calling on him. And that is the man who, when recently invited by a gentleman to call on him, replied: "I have no time; I could not be so sociable if I would." The doctor is one of the best and most popular physicians in the city, and has but his quota of patients, and down—comes of fortune. His, too, has shuffled the cards of fate and played the chance game, to win sorrow and misfortune. And now that the clouds of darkened disappointment and ill luck have been rolled back by indefatigable vim, determined perseverance, he has not forgotten his day of small things, no matter what his elegant wife and daughters may have done.

YERBA BUENA PARK.
The work of grading this ground goes bravely on; it is supposed it will be completed sometime next January. A workman last Thursday, while engaged with several others in digging at the base of a hill which rises fifty-eight feet in height, was buried alive. Without any premonitory warning there was suddenly a perfect avalanche of sand which made the workmen beat a precipitate retreat—all save one, John Laffin, who was buried up to his breast. The sand rushing down a second time, even before the men could render their comrade any assistance he was completely concealed from their view, leaving only a small portion of him visible to mark his locality. After nearly an hour's hard digging the men had the satisfaction of rescuing Laffin, who was entirely unconscious. Restoratives were at once applied, and somehow he does not exactly relish the joke of being planted alive, leaving only a lock of hair out to remind passers-by of his whereabouts.

Letter from Oregon.

DIXIE, Oregon, Dec. 8th, 1870.
ED. YOLO DEMOCRAT: Thinking that a communication from the land of "red apples" and twin toes might prove of interest to some of your numerous readers, I have concluded to give you a brief outline of the doings of this great "webfoot" nation.

THE FARMERS
Are just now as busy as men can well be, plowing and sowing grain. Practical farmers are of opinion that there will be a greater area of ground now than ever been sown in the history of the State. Our winter, so far, has been remarkably mild, in fact, there has been just sufficient rain to put the ground in splendid condition for cultivation; grain of all kinds has advanced here within the last month from 75 to 87 cents per bushel, and $1 05 in cents, for wheat, and from 33 to 50 cents per bushel for oats and barley. All kinds of garden vegetables are scarce and in good demand, owing to short crops this year.

OREGON AND CALIFORNIA RAILROAD.
The Oregon and California Railroad is pushing ahead with rapid strides towards the border of our State, hastening on to meet your road of the same name that is coming this way. When this road is completed, we can take breakfast at Salem, Oregon, dinner at Red Bluff, and supper in Sacramento, and, if necessary, go on out to Woodland and stay all night with the editor of THE YOLO DEMOCRAT.

POLITICS
Are just now at a standstill in this State. Our Legislature has just adjourned after a somewhat protracted session. Some very good appropriations were made, among which may be enumerated two hundred thousand dollars, for the purpose of constructing a canal and locks around the Willamette Falls, at Oregon City. Taxes are light and, in fact, things seem to be improved generally under Democratic rule.

THE GENERAL HEALTH
Of our State is good, with the exception of a disease resembling the small pox, which is now prevalent in several localities. It seems to defy medical skill; sometimes it kills, and at others allows the victim to get well. Some call it the "Chinese plague"; some one thing thing, and some another. One thing is certain—it is contagious and often kills; hence of course it is dangerous.

CATTLE
Are in good demand at the following prices: Cows, $35; two-year-olds, $25 to $30; yearlings, $12 to $18; hogs are worth, net, 64c per pound; sheep, stock, $22 1/2 to $25; mutton, $23 1/2 to $25. As I write, to-day, it is warm and pleasant; the sun is shining, grass and grain growing; in fact it has the appearance of Spring. All things considered, I think Oregon is a good place for a poor man, as good lands can be bought at from $12 to $20 per acre, well improved.

INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION?
Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess. The records of the insane asylum, and the melancholy deaths by consumption bear ample witness to the fact. The Constitution once affected by organic weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most sceptic.
